COUNTY GOVERNMENT OF SIAYA

DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE AND ECONOMIC PLANNING

DIRECTORATE OF STRATEGY, MONITORING AND EVALUATION

COUNTY PROJECT STOCK TAKE REPORT

MARCH. 2026

Forward

The Fourth Schedule of the Kenyan Constitution (2010) outlines 14 main functional areas devolved to the 47 county governments. These include agriculture, health services, local transport, trade regulation, planning, early childhood education, waste management, firefighting, and control of public nuisances. These powers are designed to bring services closer to citizens, ensure local participation, and promote accountability.

As part of our commitment to transparency, accountability, and the prudent management of public resources, the county undertook a comprehensive stocktaking exercise to review the status and achievements of all development projects implemented between the 2013/2014 and 2024/2025 financial years as mandated to ensure that all development programmes/projects are accounted for and properly documented. This report marks a significant step forward in aligning our county's projects management cycle with the requirements of the Public Finance Management Act, 2012 and National stocktaking guidelines of 2025. The main objectives of this stock-taking exercise were to review the status, performance, and achievements of all development projects implemented between the 2013/2014 and 2024/2025 financial years and to verify the existence and general conditions of projects across all sub-counties.

The findings in this report provide a clear picture of the current state of the programmes and projects, highlighting those implemented to completion and the ones in progress which requires immediate intervention. The recommendations outlined within this document particularly regarding the need for improved tracking systems and prompt maintenance of infrastructure will be crucial for informed decision-making in future budgetary allocations.

Executive Summary

In fulfillment of the requirements under the second Kenya Devolution Support Programme (KDSP II), Siaya County has undertaken a comprehensive stocktaking exercise to review the status, performance, and achievements of all development projects implemented between the 2013/2014 and 2024/2025 financial years. This report consolidates the findings of this rigorous assessment, which was conducted between October 2025 and March 2026.

The stock take encompassed a total of 9,241 projects across ten county departments. This reflects a significant level of development activity and investment over the review period. The Roads, Public Works, Energy and Transport department recorded the highest completion rate at 100%, followed closely by Water, Irrigation, Natural Resources and Climate Change at 98.27%. Notable achievements include the widespread construction of ECDE classrooms, numerous completed water access initiatives, and extensive road maintenance works that have directly enhanced service delivery across the county.

The exercise identified several cross-cutting challenges that hinder optimal project outcomes. Financial sustainability emerged as a critical concern, with irregular funding flows, pending bills, and partial budget releases disrupting implementation timelines and jeopardizing the operational viability of completed assets. Operational and maintenance gaps threaten the longevity of investments, as many completed projects lack dedicated maintenance plans and budgets. Furthermore, coordination challenges between county and national government entities, as well as development partners, have led to delays in multi-agency projects. The stocktaking process itself highlighted data management and reporting weaknesses, including inconsistent record-keeping and limited staff capacity in project monitoring frameworks, which obscure transparency and hinder effective oversight.

In response to these findings, this report concludes with a concrete Implementation Plan for 2026–2027, designed to translate insights into action. The plan prioritizes the revival of all stalled projects through targeted funding and contract resolution, the institutionalization of sustainability frameworks to ensure the long-term functionality of assets, and the strengthening of the county's project management ecosystem through capacity building and improved financial controls. A dedicated focus on stakeholder communication and accountability will also be essential to maintain public trust.

Overall, the Siaya County project portfolio demonstrates a substantial commitment to development and tangible progress in improving livelihoods. The journey ahead requires a strategic shift from mere project completion to sustainable project impact. By adopting the recommendations and action plan outlined herein, Siaya County will not only address existing gaps but also lay a stronger foundation for planning, executing, and maintaining future investments, thereby maximizing the return on public resources and securing lasting benefits for its residents.

1. INTRODUCTION

1.1 County Overview

Siaya County is one of 47 counties established under the Constitution of Kenya, 2010. It has six sub-counties and thirty wards with its headquarters located in Siaya Town. The six sub- counties have headquarters located in Yala, Bondo, Aram, Ukwala and Ugunja. The County is predominantly inhabited by the Luo community with minority communities such as Luhya commonly found in the border points. Emerging communities such as the Maasai, Somalis, Kisii among others have immigrated into the county after devolution. Majority of the residents are Christians with Islam and other African traditional religions also being practised.

The main economic activity is agriculture comprising crop and livestock production as well as fishing. Crop and livestock production in the area is largely subsistence with a key focus on maize, beans, cassava, finger millet, sweet potatoes, bananas, tomatoes, sorghum, cattle, sheep, goats and chicken. Other economic activities include micro, small and medium enterprises (MSMEs) such as boda boda, jua kali, groceries, transport and retail stores. The County also hosts two light industries that produce Oxygen and Construction materials (nails, chain link fence). The county has potential in irrigation agriculture, ranching, fish processing, apiculture, textile industry and tourism.

The County is a member of the Lake Region Economic Bloc (LREB) that brings together fourteen counties comprising; Bomet, Bungoma, Busia, Homabay, Kakamega, Kericho, Kisumu, Kisii, Migori, Nandi, Nyamira, Trans Nzoia, and Vihiga. The bloc aims at leveraging on economies of scale, optimising utilisation of shared resources and maximisation on member counties' competitive and comparative advantages in accelerating economic growth and improving the livelihood of the people of the region.

1.2 Position and Size

The County is situated in the Western part of Kenya within Nyanza region. It lies between latitude 0° 26′ South to 0° 18′ North and longitude 33° 58′ and 34° 33′East. Siaya County neighbours Vihiga and Kakamega Counties to the North-East, Kisumu County to the South-East, Busia County to the Northwest and Homabay County across the Winam Gulf to the South. It has a land surface area of approximately 2,530 km² and water surface area of approximately 1,005 km^2. Figure 1 below gives the position of the county in the map of Kenya.

1.3 Physiographic and Natural Conditions

1.3.1 Physical and Topographic Features

Siaya County has three major geomorphological areas namely: Dissected Uplands, Moderate Lowlands and Yala Swamp. These areas have different relief, soils and land use patterns. The altitude of the County rises from 1,140m on the shores of Lake Victoria to 1,400m above sea level on the North.

Figure 2 above gives the county's physical features. The County also has several hills namely: Mbaga and Akara in Alego Usonga; Odiado in Ugenya; Regea, Rawalo and Nguge in Gem; Usenge, Ramogi hills, Got Abiero, Sirafuongo in Bondo and Rambugu and Naya hills in Rarieda. Rivers Nzoia and Yala traverse the County and enter Lake Victoria through Yala Swamp. These features have a bearing on the overall development potential of the County. High altitude areas of Ugenya and Ugunja sub-counties and parts of Gem sub county experience higher rainfall hence suitable for agriculture, agroforestry and dairy farming. The low altitude areas of Bondo, Rarieda, parts of Alego Usonga and parts of Gem Sub Counties experience less rainfall and thus are suitable for cotton growing and drought resistant crop varieties and livestock production.

1.3.2 Climatic Conditions

The County is fairly hot (21-25 °C) and moist (1,000-1,750mm precipitation annually). There is a strong precipitation gradient with the northern areas receiving more than 1,750 mm, and the southern areas closer to Lake Victoria receiving 1,000-1,250mm of precipitation. Both temperature and rainfall are high during most part of the year, although the first wet season (January-June) receives higher and more consistent precipitation than the second season (July-December). Intense precipitation and heat stress are both hazards that contribute to agricultural risk in the County throughout the year. Dry spells are on average longer during the second wet season, with consistently close to 60 consecutive days of moisture stress. While in the first season moisture stress occurs for fewer than 30 days. Extreme precipitation and flood risks are moderate to low in both seasons, with most years receiving 10-25mm of precipitation on the wettest day. This pattern dictates the kind of agricultural activities that can be undertaken in the region.

1.3.3 Ecological Conditions

The main Agro-Ecological Zones (AEZ) in the County fall under Lower Midland Zones (LM) ranging from LM1 to LM5 with pockets of Upper Midland Zones which have a high agricultural potential.

Agro-Ecological Zones (AEZ)	Altitude (m)	Annual Mean Temperatures	Annual Average Rainfall	60% Reliability of rainfall (mm)
				Long rains	Short rains
Lower Midlands (LM1)	1,300- 1,500	21.8- 20.9^0 C	1,500- 1,900 mm
Lower Midlands (LM2)	1,337- 1,457	22.3- 21.5^0 C	1,400- 1,600 mm
Lower Midlands (LM3)	1,160- 1,350	22.7- 20.0^0 C	1,020- 1,390 mm	250-350	250- 350
Lower Midlands (LM4)	1,160- 1,280	22.7- 22.3^0 C	890- 1,020 mm	220-350	250-350
Lower Midlands (LM5)	790-1,220	24.0- 21.6^0 C	650- 750 mm	180- 300	200- 300

Table 1: Agro-ecological zones (AEZ)

The Lower Midlands (LM 1-3) are sub-humid and humid zones with reliable precipitation. Areas under LM5 are found in the lower parts of the County around the shores of Lake Victoria. Both LM4 and LM5 are semi-humid, semi-dry lower midland zones classified as marginal cotton and livestock and millet zones respectively. Figure 3 gives the county's Agro-ecological zones (AEZ).

The predominant soil type is ferralsols soil. Its fertility ranges from moderate to low with most soils being unable to produce without the use of organic, inorganic, or in most cases both types of fertilizers. The soils are therefore degraded, have poor moisture retention and are of poor quality with nutrients severely depleted hence the incidences of low productivity. Black cotton soils, loam and red volcanic soils are also found in some areas of the County.

1.2 Background

A multi-year project stocktaking exercise is a comprehensive review designed to assess the cumulative progress, financial status, and operational efficiency of long-term initiatives. It goes beyond simple physical inventory, acting as a strategic audit to reconcile accumulated assets, liabilities, and implementation progress against original plans

The project Stocktaking Template is designed to collect comprehensive data on project implementation, financials, overall status including climate change, environmental and social risk screening.

1.3 Objective of Project Stocktaking

The overall objective of stocktaking is to determine the actual project status and progress, identify existing gaps, and evaluate if the project is meeting its objectives. The specific objectives includes:

a) Assess Project Status & Progress: Determine the actual physical and financial status, completion levels, and achievements against planned milestones for ongoing multi-year projects.
b) Ensure Accountability & Transparency: Verify efficient use of public resources and adherence to project guidelines, promoting good governance.
c) Rationalize Project Portfolios: Identify underperforming, redundant, or misaligned projects to reallocate resources to high-impact initiatives.
d) Optimize Resource Allocation: Make informed decisions on funding, staffing, and equipment for maximum return on investment.
e) Identify Challenges & Risks: Uncover bottlenecks, implementation issues, and risks that hinder project success.
f) Align with National Priorities: Ensure projects contribute effectively to Kenya's broader development agenda, such as economic transformation and sustainable development.
g) Improve Future Planning: Use lessons learned to refine project design, implementation, and monitoring for subsequent projects.
h) Enhance Stakeholder Confidence: Build trust through clear reporting on project performance and impact.

1.4 Scope

The project Stocktaking was designed to collect comprehensive data on project implementation, financials, overall status including climate change, environmental and social risk screening. All counties are required to prepare a Stock-taking Report and an implementation plan of stocktaking recommendations for projects implemented between 2013 and June 30, 2024.

1.5 Legal framework

The stock-taking exercise is aligned with the provisions of the Constitution of Kenya 2010, the County Governments Act 2012, and the Public Finance Management Act 2012. These laws mandate counties to ensure prudent management of public resources, maintain proper records of development projects, and enhance transparency and accountability in project implementation.

2. METHODOLOGY

This section outlines the systematic approach adopted to conduct the county-wide project stocktaking exercise, in accordance with the Guidelines on County Project Stock Taking (December 2024) issued by the National Treasury and Economic Planning. The exercise was structured into five sequential phases to ensure comprehensive data collection,, and reporting.

2.1 Phase 1: Preparatory Phase

The preparatory phase established the foundational framework for the exercise. An initial meeting was held with the heads of department to ensure a common understanding of the objectives and processes. An assessment was undertaken to review the existing state of project documentation and data management across departments, identifying key challenges and standardization needs.

Following this, the requisite governance structures were established. A secretariat was formed comprising departmental representatives and Departmental Projects Stocktaking Committee were formed within each department to be responsible for primary data collection.

These organs were operationalized with clear Terms of Reference

2.2 Phase 2: Data Collection

The data collection phase was executed from October, 2025 to March, 2026. The Technical Committee first conducted training sessions for nominated officers from all departments on the use of the standardized project status templates. A formal request for data submission was then issued to all sectors.

Data was collected for all categories of projects: new, ongoing, stalled, and completed for a period covering FY 2013/2014 to 2024/2025. Primary sources included approved budget documents, projects report from finance department, Controller of Budget (COB) reports, departmental financial records, implementation progress reports, and existing Monitoring & Evaluation (M&E) reports.

Due to resource constraints, the departments were not able to collect data on geographical location of the projects.

2.3 Phase 3: Data Processing

All departmental submissions were centrally collated. The data was entered into master database structured on the standard template depending on data availability. A rigorous data cleaning process was undertaken to check for completeness, eliminate duplicates, correct formatting inconsistencies, and flag obvious errors or omissions.

2.4 Phase 4: Analysis and Validation

The cleaned and processed data was subjected to detailed analysis to determine project status, aggregate trends, and identify common challenges.

2.5 Phase 5: Reporting, Approval, and Dissemination

Based on the validated data, a draft County Project Stocktaking Report was compiled, structured to include findings, challenges, and recommendations. This draft report was submitted to the County Projects Steering Committee for review and subsequently presented to the County Executive Committee (CEC) for formal deliberation and approval.

3. FINDINGS

This section presents a high-level overview of the key findings from the county-wide project stocktaking exercise, organized at the departmental level. The analysis focuses on the status distribution of projects, categorizing them as abandoned, stalled, completed, or ongoing. The summary below captures aggregate trends, notable patterns, and critical observations identified during the data analysis and validation phase. A comprehensive, project-by-project breakdown including specific details on project name, location, funding, physical and financial progress are provided in annexes. Table below indicate the summary of status of county projects from FY 2013/14 to 2024/25.

4. CHALLENGES AND LESSONS LEARNT

4.1 Challenges

1. Incomplete Data Submission; Some project records in the template had missing fields such as implementation status, financial progress, or completion dates. This mainly affected the earlier financial years.
2. Limited Supporting Documentation; Some projects lacked updated financial reports, monitoring reports, or completion certificates, affecting verification of project status.
3. Delayed Feedback from Implementing Teams; Slow responses from technical officers during clarification and validation stages affected timelines for report compilation.
4. Data Verification Constraints; Limited time and logistical resources restricted extensive field verification for all projects listed in the template.
5. Template Interpretation Challenges; Some officers required clarification on sections such as risk screening, safeguards, and project categorization, leading to inconsistencies during initial data capture.
6. Data Consolidation Difficulties; Combining information from multiple sources into the standardized reporting structure required extensive reconciliation.

4.2 Lessons Learnt

The stock-taking exercise highlights several strategic and operational lessons relevant for improving future project planning, implementation efficiency, and sustainability.

- ✦ Predictable financing frameworks are essential to minimize project delays and safeguard development outcomes.
- ✦ Comprehensive feasibility assessments and risk analysis improve implementation stability and cost efficiency.
- ✦ Early integration of sustainability and exit strategies enhances long-term project impact.
- ✦ Strong inter-agency coordination mechanisms improve implementation speed and accountability.
- ✦ Continuous monitoring, adaptive management, and timely reporting strengthen project performance.

- Irregular funding flows, pending bills, and partial budget releases have affected project implementation timelines. Several projects exhibit slowed completion rates due to funding disruptions, increasing exposure to cost escalation and reduced value-for-money outcomes.

5. CONCLUSIONS & RECOMMENDATION

5.1 Conclusions

Overall, the implementation of programmes and projects demonstrates substantive development with notable progress in infrastructure, service delivery, and socio-economic interventions. However, financial risks, operational sustainability gaps, and coordination challenges constraints require targeted mitigation to maximize development efficiency and effectiveness.

5.2 Recommendations

- Strengthen medium-term expenditure planning to ensure continuity of funding for ongoing projects.
- Institutionalize sustainability frameworks including maintenance financing, capacity building, and operational governance structures.
- Enhance project preparation through rigorous technical, economic, environmental, and social risk assessments.
- Improve inter-governmental and partner coordination through standardized reporting and joint oversight mechanisms.
- Strengthen monitoring, evaluation, accountability, and reporting systems to support adaptive management and donor reporting compliance.
